

Financials.

■ Benefits

Funding, commitment, and obligation reporting.

Unison Financials provides program leaders and program control staff an intuitive, interactive view of budget, requirements, commitments, and obligations.

Full and shared understanding of funding, especially amounts budgeted, obligated, invoiced, and paid during various time periods and within certain groups or geographies.

Prevention of costly delays spreading to downstream milestones and related activities.

More productive, efficient and transparent collaboration.

■ Key Features

Unison Financials prevents administrative snags from festering into costly program delays.

■ Easily and quickly identify upcoming funding obligations, late obligations, and historical trend analysis.

■ Manage requirements per funding line and quickly determine priority when budgets change.

■ Using automated, configurable dashboards, report program information from key process areas.

■ Manage contract document packages and tasking.
